What is a consumable?: something that is "eaten," used up, or consumed towards the giving of a grade. (food is pretty much only a collectable "consumable" if it's a "cooking class" or food is somehow involved in an experiment in a class assignment.)

This is a very basic understanding based on one very short meeting. We need to ask more questions concerning the details about what the school district would or would not "fund" as a class and what is or is not a "consumable" that could be charged as a "class fee." (how much money in each bucket) However, the basic concept and premises are here for understanding.
